Don't know where to go or what support is available?

Are you experiencing financial or personal difficulties?

Not sure what your options are?

Want to talk things through with someone impartial?

Southern Peninsula Community Support and Information Centre provides a free, confidential, impartial, independent & community-based support, information & referral service in a welcoming and non-judgmental environment.

Our information and crisis support services are provided by trained and friendly volunteer staff from the local community who are:

- Readily available to listen and offer impartial support
- Respect the right of the individual to make their own decisions
- Link people into services appropriate to their individual needs
